Consolidation, Weller Tract, School Turmoil, Millstone Bypass Dominated the Headlines in Borough and Township in 1996

1996 was a BIG year in Princeton.

It was the year of an exhaustive Consolidation Study, followed by a vote in which the Consolidation Commission's recommendations were once again rejected in the Borough and accepted in the Township.

It was the year that Princeton University celebrated its 250th Anniversary, and the President of the United States was the Commencement speaker.

The Blizzard of '96 took place in the year that has just ended. The associated snow storms of last winter dumped a record 68 inches of white stuff on the area, and in the months since, the total rainfall in the state came within two inches of equalling the all-time record of 58 inches.

There were two no-confidence votes against the Superintendent of Schools by the teachers' union, and high school students staged an unprecedented rally and march to protest the Superintendent's recommendation to the Board of Education not to extend the contract of their principal. The School Board itself was unable to agree on a replacement for a member who was going away on sabbatical, and a group of parents decided to take advantage of recent state legislation and try to form a charter school.

During 1996, the revaluation of all Borough and Township residential and commercial properties was completed, and there was ongoing controversy surrounding the position of the Civil Rights director. Other matters that generated an outpouring of Letters to the Editor were the Township's efforts to purchase the Weller Farm for active and passive recreation, Princeton Medical Center's use of houses it owns on Harris Road for office use, trucks on Route 206, the proposed Millstone Bypass and the Mercer County incinerator.

The Consolidation Study Commission, whose members had been approved by voters of both the Borough and the Township in November, 1995, got down to business early in 1996. The Commission elected Donald Stokes and Margen Penick co-chairs and set up

TT Christmas Fund Stands at $47,805; 1995 Record Broken

The TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund has surged past last year's record and now stands at $47,805.

In a single week, three large year-end checks came in to boost the total to nearly $1,000 more than the record $46,889 received last year when the drive ended at the end of January. The largest, for $10,000, was from the J. Seward Johnson Sr. Charitable Trust. Checks for $2,500 and $2,000 were also received.

Suicide Victim Discovered Sunday in Institute Woods

The body of a 35-year-old-Nassau Street man, whose wife reported him missing on Christmas Eve, was found in the Institute Woods on Sunday afternoon. Ilko Bochnakov, a Bulgarian immigrant employed by the Kooltronic company of Hopewell, was the victim of suicide, authorities reported.

The grim discovery was made at 12:33 p.m. by a dog handler with West Jersey Canine Search and Rescue, said police, ending a search that stretched over five days and involved dozens of police officers, firefighters, and volunteers.

Mr. Bochnakov's body was "not too far off the main path," reported Township Police Captain Peter Savalli, but was in a thickly-wooded area with many fallen trees.

"The body was in a hole in the ground, where a tree had gone over," he said, explaining why earlier searches had failed to discover it. "You would have had to walk right up to it to find him."

On Monday afternoon, Mercer County Assistant Prosecutor Doris Galuchie confirmed that the death was a suicide. An autopsy report indicated that Mr. Bochnakov bled to death from wounds inflicted with a seven-inch kitchen knife.

While blood analysis will take several weeks to produce a conclusive report, Ms. Galuchie said, there is currently no reason to believe that drugs or alcohol were involved.

Mr. Bochnakov's wife, whose name was not released, reported her husband missing at 4:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve. He had left their home at 6:30 a.m. on his way to work, but never arrived at the office. When she reported her husband missing, Ms. Bochnakov informed police that he had been suffering from depression for some time.

His 1985 Mazda was discovered on Christmas Day, near a maintenance shed on the property of the Institute for Advanced Study. Bochnakov was known to come to the woods frequently, to walk his dog.

The search of the 300-acre woods began that day.

"We had a difficult time trying to get people out on Christmas Day," reported Capt. Savalli. Eventually,

A PICTURE-BOOK WEDDING: On this past Sunday morning, Stacy Cullen and Dustin Conrad were married on the Nassau Inn Green, in front of the Christmas tree that the inn had agreed to light for the occasion. In August, Mr. Conrad flew in from Wisconsin to ask Borough Council for permission to hold the wedding on the Green. His trip was successful, and Council agreed. Another picture on Page 2.

Anniversaries Celebrate 510 Years

Princeton University wasn't the only entity celebrating a major anniversary, although its anniversary was the biggest.

TOWN TOPICS celebrated its 50th anniversary in March by putting out a special anniversary issue with articles by past and present writers on different aspects of its history. The paper also re-designed its masthead and the layout of the bigger articles.

Princeton Medical Group also celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1996. The first multi-specialty group medical practice in Princeton, it marked the occasion with two parties and the publication of a history by one of its members, Dr. Harvey Rothberg.

The 50th anniversary of the dedication of Princeton Battlefield Park was cause for reenactments and an all-day 18th century encampment in mid-October plus a rededication of the park.

The French Market sponsored by the Garden Club of Princeton marked 45 years of selling fresh flowers from members' gardens in the little park outside TOWN TOPICS, and this year's Bryn Mawr Book Sale was the 65th.

However, Princeton University's celebration of 250 years since its founding as the College of New Jersey was in a class all by itself. The kickoff was held February 23 in Richardson Auditorium, with speeches by former President Robert F. Goheen and Dean of the Faculty Emeritus Aaron Lemonick. Coordinated by Dorothy Bedford '78, former president of the Alumni Council, the celebration included a dazzling array of events and activities peaking in June with the visit of President Bill Clinton to give the Commencement address and again in October when the University celebrated the granting of its charter and invited the Princeton community to join in the festivities.

subcommittees to study finance, administrative services and government structure. It announced it would issue a series of "study briefs" and that there would be wide community discussion of issues through public hearings and focus groups.

The Commission was true to its word. It met twice weekly all winter and spring at first one municipal hall and then the other. It invited the mayors and governing bodies, the administrators and all interested municipal employees to give their views. Study briefs on topics such as the origins of the two Princetons, the Mt. Laurel obligations of the two municipalities, open space and recreation issues, the vitality of the central business district and the forms of municipal government allowed under state law were duly published in the local papers.

Using funds provided by the state Department of Community Affairs, the Commission retained Jersey Professional Management, a management consultant firm specializing in municipal governance, and Kehrt Shatken Sharon, local architects, to assist them, particularly in looking at existing and proposed municipal facilities, their locations, and the costs for a united Princeton if Consolidation were to pass. A report on several alternatives was published and became an appendix to the final report.

The management consultant reported that merger of police and public works was not only feasible but practical and desirable from an economic and efficiency point of view. This consultant also warned against merging the police and public works without full municipal consolidation. Meanwhile, municipal employees, notably the Borough Engineer, raised questions about the cost of the transition should the two municipalities be merged and how the increased workload would be apportioned among an already burdened municipal staff.

The fiscal analysis prepared by the state DCA said that even with the costs of transition, consolidation would bring savings in the long run. However, the Commission itself noted in late April that economic issues would not drive the decision on whether or not to consolidate, and one of its members, who had headed the finance subcommittee, said that there was no compelling financial argument for or against consolidation.

Thinking As One

In early May, the Consolidation Study Commission voted 8 to 2 to recommend consolidation; Albert Angrisani of the Borough and David Blair of the Township were the two members in the minority. The preliminary report entitled "Thinking as One" was published in three parts in TOWN TOPICS and forwarded to the state, along with a minority report, for review and approval.

The state approved the report in mid-June, and the anti-consolidation organization "Preserve Our Historic Borough" swung into action, naming Kate Warren as its chair. A pro-consolidation group with members from Borough as well as Township formed "One Princeton" and named Corinne Kyle its chair.

Both groups peppered the newspapers with letters and ads in the subsequent months.

The Commission's final report was issued August 1, right on schedule. The majority stated that nine months of study "have convinced us that answers for the future can no longer be limited by the arrangements that served us well in the past." The minority report said that the Commission had been unable to demonstrate "few if any clear and unambiguous advantages" to consolidation.

In September, a clerical lapse threatened to prevent the question of consolidation from appearing on the ballot at all. The issue was brought before Judge Carchman who ruled that the filing of the consolidation question on September 3 was sufficiently in advance of the election to get it on the ballot. The decision was appealed by Preserve Our Historic Borough, which also tried to get the vote postponed so that the student vote in a presidential election year would not count as heavily as the opponents feared it might.

In mid-September, Ms. Warren was appointed to the Consolidation Study Commission by Borough Council to replace Karen Hegener, who had moved to the Township. In late September, Borough Mayor Marvin Reed came out in favor of consolidation, even though two members of Borough Council were opposed. The flood of pro- and anti-consolidation literature increased all through October, with an effort by both sides to influence the student vote.

On Election Day, November 6, Borough voters rejected consolidation by 384 votes, a much larger number than the 33 votes by which they had rejected it in 1979. Township voters voted "yes" to consolidation by a two-to-one margin. The student vote did not appear to have had an impact.

Civil Rights Controversy

1996 began with a meeting of the two mayors and the two municipal representatives to the Joint Civil Rights Commission to discuss the future of the Commission, which had been under attack by some members of Borough Council for its lack of a program and for failing to respond to incidents of violence against Latino residents by African-American youths in October, 1995.

In late January, Township Committee and Borough Council voted to return to making the position of Welfare Director for Borough and Township full time. Ovie Lattimore had been filling the post part time while also serving as Civil Rights director. In February, Hedwig Feit, who had been hired in November, 1985, as assistant to Mr. Lattimore in his dual capacity, was named welfare director full time.

In March, during joint budget discussions, the two governing bodies approved a reduction in the salary of the Civil Rights director while a task force evaluated the role of the Commission and the director. Mr. Lattimore, who had been hired in 1993 on a full time basis, sued the Borough and Township, charging that his job was cut to half time in retaliation for his investigation of minority parents' complaints that their children were disciplined more severely at Princeton High School than non-minorities.

The Task Force on Civil Rights presented its report to a joint meeting of Borough Council and Township Committee in April, recommending that the Civil Rights director's job be full time. The Task Force stressed the need for a strong civil rights program in Princeton and a commission made up of committed individuals who are willing to devote time and energy to the Commission's activities.

In July, Mr. Lattimore was fired by Borough Administrator Tom Shannon, who said his decision was the result of an ongoing personnel evaluation process. The office was subsequently staffed three mornings a week by temporary workers until September, when the Rev. Michael Nabors, former pastor of First Baptist Church, was hired on a temporary basis. At year end, Mr. Nabors is still filling this function, although he has said he is not interested in the position permanently. Borough Council is still deeply divided as to whether to hire a new civil rights director, and the lawsuit brought by Mr. Lattimore against the two municipalities is still pending.

Meanwhile, however, several vacancies on the Joint Civil Rights Commission were finally filled by Township Mayor Michele Tuck-Ponder. In July, Mayor Tuck-Ponder asked the Commission's help in facilitating dialogue and understanding between the African-American community and the Latino community following several meetings in the Clay Street Learning Center at which problems of overcrowding, accumulated garbage, problems with landlords, health and zoning code violations and speeding traffic were aired. The meetings also revealed deep-seated tensions between the African-American

Princetonians in the News in 1996

People make the news in any year, and during 1996 these were some of the people who made news and whose achievements were recognized with special awards.

Deborah Poritz was named chief justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court, succeeding Robert Wilentz, who died, and becoming the woman chief justice and the first Republican in a quarter of a century. Mrs. Poritz was serving as attorney general for Gov. Whitman before being elevated to the Supreme Court.

Stephen O'Connor, an urban planning and housing specialist, was appointed president of New Brunswick Tomorrow, a private nonprofit organization that addresses human services issues in New Brunswick's revitalization.

Emily Mann, artistic director of McCarter Theatre, received the League of Professional Theatre Women's eighth annual Lee Reynolds Award, given to women who are active in any aspect of American Theatre.

Toni Morrison, Robert F. Goheen Professor of the Humanities at Princeton University and winner of the 1993 Nobel Prize in literature, was selected by the National Endowment for the Humanities to give the 25th Jefferson Lecture in the Humanities at at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. Being asked to give the lecture is the highest honnr bestowed by the U.S. government for distinguished intellectual achievement.

Andrew Wiles, the Princeton University professor of mathematics who solved the problem of Fermat's Last Theorem, received a Commonwealth Award along with Eunice Shriver, Jason Robards, Ken Burns and Derek Walcott, the Nobel Prize winning Caribbean poet and playwright.

Homer A. Thompson, professor at the Institute for Advanced Study known fnr his work in the excavations at the agora in Athens, received the Thomas Jefferson Medal for Distinguished Achievement in the Humanities from the American Philosophical Society.

Mathenratical physicist and author Freeman Dyson, also on the Institute faculty, received the 1996 Lewis Thomas Prize from Rockefeller University. The prize honors scientists for the artistic achievements.

Former Borough Mayor Robert Cawley was feted at a Hail and Farewell dinner at the Nassau Club in April, shortly before he moved away to Maine.

Also in April, Riverside Schoof principal Bill Cirullo was honored by the schnof PTA at a special assembfy which took note of his 10 years of exceptional leadership by showering him with songs, poems and pnsters from students and parents, and accolades from colleagues.

Earlier in the year, Orren Jack Turner received a pfaque from the Borough Zoning Board as he retired after 16 years of service. He also served on the Borough Board of Health for nine years.

Gail Stern, director of the Historical Society of Princeton, was honored with a 1996 public programming award from the New Jersey Council for the Humanities. She was cited for the exhibits she organized on the Italian community and the African-American community.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Suomi received a Preservation Award from the Historical Society of Princeton for their restoration of Maybury Hill. At the same time, Elizabeth G. Menzies was recognized for her achievements as an author and photographer.

Robert J. Solomon, former executive vice president of Educational Testing Service was honored at a special dinner at which it was announced the ETS dining room would be named for him as well as an award fnr innovative management.

Wallace M. Alston, senior minister at Nassau Presbyterian Church for nearly 22 years, was named director of the Center of Theological Study. Cynthia A. Jarvis, assistant minister at Nassau Church for almost as long, was named senior minister at the Chestnut Hill, Pa., Presbyterian Church.

There were several retirements in 1996.

Alfred Cook, M.D., retired after 44 years practising family medicine, all but one year on his own.

Kay McGrath, founding president of the Mercer Council on Alcoholism and Drug Addiction, retired and was honored at a dinner in Trenton.

The Institute for Advanced Study lost its esteemed chef Franz Moehn, who retired in 1996.

Haskell Rhett, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, announced he would be stepping down as of January 1, 1997.

In addition to President Clinton, there were several distinguished visitors to Princeton in 1996.

Senators Edward Kennedy and Paul Simon were here in January to speak at the memorial service at the Princeton University Chapel for Dr. Ernest Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Sen. Bill Bradley gave a talk on "Rethinking America's Leadership" in February at the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. Sen. Bradley returned in June to give the Baccalaureate Address to the Class of 1996 at Princeton.

Joseph Califano, former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary, gave a talk on the future of health care reform. Donna E. Shalala, the current U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services, was the keynote speaker at the annual Barbara Boggs Sigmund Symposium on Women and Poverty. She spoke on health concerns through the life cycle.

Marian Wright Edelman founder and president of the Children's Defense Council, came to Princeton in April to initiate a drive for a scholarship fund to enable neighborhood children to participate in Arts Council activities.

In May Dr. Joseph Roblat, winner of the 1995 Nobel Peace Prize and former president of the Pugwash Conference on Science and World Affairs, gave a talk on "Abolishing Nuclear Weapons."

In August, Hillary Rodham Clinton and daughter Chelsea Clinton came to Princeton on a college visiting tour.

community and the Latino community.

The Commission agreed to implement a "Study Circles" program that the Office of Bias Crime and Community Relations in the state Division of Criminal Justice was sponsoring around the state. The Commission's request that its membership be increased from 10 to 12 was subsequently approved by Borough Council and Township Committee.

SOKS Formed

Meanwhile, too, a group of men in the John-Witherspoon area formed SOKS, standing for Save Our Kids, an organization formed to promote and foster activities and dialogue for minority youth in Princeton. Led by Henry Pannell of the Borough Housing Authority and Peter Young of the Township Police Department, SOKS organized a very successful camping trip to Blairstown for some of the youngsters. It held rap sessions with the older ones and took them to Great Adventure. It also worked to get the John Street wading pool open on Saturdays.

1996 began with the Board of Education and the teachers' union deadlocked over the terms of a contract to replace the one that had expired in June, 1995. After a 7 1/2 hour meeting in early January, the two entities agreed to ask the state for a fact finder. A fact finder was assigned in February, but agreement was not reached until April and then only with the additional help of a mediator and after the two sides held a marathon 23-hour bargaining session. The pact that was ratified in early May called for a 3.9 percent average salary increase per year over three years and increases in the amount of instruction time required of teachers.

In January, the teachers' union, Princeton Regional Education Association (PREA), gave the first of two "no confidence" votes to Superintendent of Schools Marcia Bossart. The second came in May, following the controversy over extending the contracts of the Superintendent and the Princeton High School principal Leigh Byron. Mrs. Bossart was given a four-year contract in September, 1994, when she began as superintendent, but the board was required to vote after two years whether

Support for Principol

When it was learned that the School Board would also be voting whether to renew the contract of Princeton High School Principal Leigh Byron, letters began to pour into the TOWN TOPICS mailbox from teachers as well as parents. Believing that Mrs. Bossart would not recommend renewing the contrct of Mr. Byron, PHS students staged a rally at the school in support of the principal and marched down Valley Road to the Board of Education administrative offices.

The Board of Education meeting on April 9 at which these matters were decided was emotionally charged and tumultuous. Township Police officers, including the chief of police, were present in case matters got out of hand. After listening to several hours of angry comments from parents and teachers, the Board voted 6 to 4 to keep Mrs. Bossart. It also voted not to renew the contracts of Mr. Byron, nor of Community Park Principal Lois Zabriskie and PHS math supervisor Paul Gruber.

The vote on Ms. Zabriskie, which had been overshadowed in the weeks leading up to the meeting by the concern about the contracts of Mrs. Bossart and Mr. Byron, prompted a new outpouring of outrage and support as Community Park parents lobbied to have the vote overturned. Mr. Byron and Ms. Zabriskie both began an appeal process leading to an appearance at the School Board.

Mr. Byron's appeal was held in closed session, and details were unavailable. Shortly afterwards it became known that he was a finalist for the superintendent's positions at Bound Brook. Two weeks later, he was chosen for the post and given a five year contract. That same week, in late May, the teachers voted "no confidence" in the superintendent by 244-6.

At the next School Board meeting, Mrs. Bossart declined to change her position on Ms. Zabriskie, and in July, Ms. Zabriskie filed a law suit against the superintendent with the State Department of Education. That suit was to be heard by the Office of Administrative Law.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Janie Edmonds, assistant principal at PHS, had resigned to accept a position at West Milford High School, and that John Kazmark, Johnson Park School principal, had applied for a superintendent's job in Readington, but was no longer a candidate.

In June David DeVido, director of guidance at PHS since the fall of 1993, was appointed interim principal for one year. A new assistant principal and an interim director of guidance were also named. Sheila R. Cole, principal of a public school in Brooklyn, was selected to replace Ms. Zabriskie at Community Park School.

Weopons Possession

In early February, two Princeton High School students were suspended for weapons possession. One student later defended the knife in his possession, saying it was a box cutter given to him by McCaffrey's for his after-school job at the supermarket.

Also in February, with the assistance of Civil Rights Director Ovie Lattimore, five families filed bias complaints against the schools, claiming that minority students suspended for violating school policy on drugs and weapons were treated more harshly than white students committing the same infractions. Mr. Lattimore was criticized for not notifying the Borough or the Board of Education of his actions in this regard.

In School Board elections in April, the $33.3 million school budget was approved without controversy in both the Borough and the Township. Ricardo Bruce was elected in the Borough, replacing Candace Preston, who had been serving as School Board president and decided not to run for reelection. Michael Littman was reelected to a second term in the Township, along with Gina Kolata, who replaced Chiara Nappi.

Six weeks later, Lee Silver, a Township School Board member, resigned to go on sabbatical in France. The Board was deadlocked 4 to 4 on whether to name Regina Simpson or Mary Robinson Cohen to replace him. Finally, in August, John Clearwater, a former School Board member, was chosen to break the deadlock.

When the schools opened in September, the surge in enrollment that had been expected did not occur. In fact, enrollment figures in October showed a decline of 39 students, with the loss occurring in the elementary schools.

Charter School

In early October, it was learned that a group of parents had decided to form a charter school, taking advantage of 1995 state legislation that allows charter schools to be established as part of the state's program of public education. An application was forwarded to the Commissioner of Education, who has until January 15 to decide which of the 37 applications received will be granted charters.

As proposed, the school would begin with 72 students in grades four, five and six and would eventually expand to 184 students in grades K-8. The purpose, as stated in the mission statement, is to provide a diverse student body "the best possible education by focusing on the fundamental academic disciplines in an atmosphere that affirms academic achievement, and in so doing offer the community true choice in public education."

Not surprisingly, the Princeton Charter School has generated plenty of controversy. In November, the Board of Education voted 5-4 to recommend that the Commissioner of Education grant the request. Proponents and opponents on the School Board have since issued majority and minority reports on the subject.

At the private schools, Richard Dolven became the 12th head of Chapin School after serving a year as interim head. The Hun School marked 25 years of coeducation. Princeton Day School refurbished its science classrooms and its theater and was on the way to raising money to re-do its hockey rink.

Beverly Boyer, whose father, Ernest Boyer, was head of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, joined the Waldorf School as a first grade teacher who will take her charges through 8th grade.

Princeton Child Development Institute inaugurated its new wing with a concert, and Princeton Ballet School held an open house and ribbon cutting ceremony to celebrate its new quarters above McCaffrey's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Year in the Township

As the year began in the Township, Michele Tuck-Ponder was elected to a second term as mayor and Phyllis Marchand, starting her fourth consecutive three year term on Township Committee, was elected deputy mayor. Committee wrestled for most of the year with three ordinances designed to promote opportunities for moderately priced senior housing in the Township as well as the development of an assisted living facility. Objections were raised to all three ordinances, but the one permitting an assisted living facility and/or senior housing on the small tract at the corner of Terhune Road and Harrison Street drew the most neighborhood opposition.

Ultimately the site was zoned for senior housing only and at less of a density than senior housing proponents thought would attract developers. Nursing Homes and assisted living facilities were permitted as conditional uses in other areas of the Township. The third ordinance created two residential senior housing overlay zones. All three ordinances were finally adopted in October, and the next day a Bernardsville partnership filed plans for a 120-bed assisted living facility off Mt. Lucas Road.

The Township received certification of its affordable housing program for the next six years from the Council on Affordable Housing and embarked on a rehabilitation program by which deferred payment loans of up to $20,000 could be made to residents of certain incomes whose homes need repairs to basics, like heating, plumbing and electrical systems.

Weller Tract

A meeting in May with University, Recreation and Planning officials made it clear that Princeton Soccer Association will be facing increasing constraints in its use of the Princeton University fields in West Windsor. This prompted the Planning Board's Master Plan subcommittee to recommend in June that the Township consider putting an open space tax to a referendum vote — and to suggest that the 38-acre Weller Farm be purchased from the estate of Jac Weller for soccer fields.

An anonymous donor, later revealed to be Stanley Smoyer, offered $1 million toward the $2.25 million asking price. On the strength of a $500,000 grant and a $1.5 million loan from Green Acres, as well as a pledge of $428,000 from the Borough, the Township made an offer that was ultimately accepted.

Opposition from the neighbors was immediate and strong. Citing costs of development and maintenance, increased traffic, noise and flooding, they said they would prefer 18 or 19 $500,000 homes on the property which would add rateables and keep the value of their own properties.

The issue was hotly debated by overflow crowds at Township Committee meetings at which the necessary bond ordinance was introduced. It was finally approved unanimously in early September, but there have been two lawsuits since, against Township Committee and against the executor of the Weller estate.

The other controversy facing Township Committee was the zoning of the properties on the east side of Harris Road which were owned by Princeton Medical Center. The site plan for the extension of the hospital garage was finally approved in March, but Committee had removed hospital use as a conditional use from all residential zones in October, 1995, pending formulation of appropriate standards and conditions.

The Medical Center was fined $2,000 for illegal use of the houses as offices, with the recognition that the matter was under review by the Planning Board's Zoning Amendment Review Committee (ZARC). In April, unable to come to consensus among its members ZARC sent three options to Township Committee without recommending any one. The matter finally came before Committee in November, after the election. Committee heeded the neighbors and voted that the houses should remain residential in use as well as in looks.

Busy Year for Borough

In the Borough, Marvin Reed began his second term as mayor and cast a tie-breaking vote to permit the introduction of a supplemental ordinance to fund improvements to Borough Hall. The plans were put on hold in May, when it was discovered that an additional amount would be needed for asbestos abatement. As the New Year begins, both municipalities are facing major decisions in regard to upgrading their municipal facilities.

Negotiations were concluded between Borough Council and the Arts Council over the municipally owned building at 102 Witherspoon Street, which also needs upgrading. The Arts Council agreed to purchase the building for $110,000 and to raise the necessary funds for the upgrade. In response to criticism from the neighbors about accessibility of programs for the neighborhood, the Arts Council agreed to rename the building for Paul Robeson and to restructure its governance to include a neighbor advisory board and neighbor representation on its board.

In August, the Borough won a major tax appeal when the Tax Court upheld the Borough's assessed valuation of Hulfish North. Revaluation was completed in both municipalities earlier in the year, and although there were some complaints the process went remarkably smoothly.

Trucks and Traffic

Trucks on Route 206 and traffic everywhere continued to be major concerns for residents in both Borough and Township. Pressure on the New Jersey Department of Transportation succeeded in bringing about reductions in posted speed limits on Route 206 and periodic truck inspections by state officials.

The proposed Millstone Bypass raised a whole new set of concerns — ranging from the loss of the elm trees on Washington Road to traffic impacts from a linking of three separate east-west roadway projects that are in the hopper. An organization calling itself STOP (Sensible Transportation Options Partnership) tried to get the DOT to halt further progress on the Bypass pending evaluation of the impacts of all three projects and a regional approach to solving traffic problems in the area.

A STOP subcommittee promulgated several options at various meetings devoted to the Millstone Bypass. At year end, Borough Mayor Reed formed a joint task force to bring pressure on the DOT and other agencies in regard to roadways that have an impact on Princeton, with an emphasis on the Millstone Bypass and truck traffic on Route 206.

Planning Board

After a year and a half of study and work by its professional planner and a Master Plan subcommittee, the Princeton Regional Planning Board approved a new revised Princeton Community Master Plan just before the end of the year. The plan's major point is that Princeton is facing a shortage of vacant developable land on which to address competing community needs. The plan drew little public attention and virtually no controversy; however, there are still four areas the planners wish to continue to study and possibly amend, including housing and community facilities.

In January, after six lengthy hearings, the board approved the Jasna Polana golf course. In March, it approved the site plan for the remaining 68 units at Griggs Farm. Jasna Polana is under construction, but ground has yet to be broken at Griggs Farm. The board approved an addition to Jadwin and Fine halls at Princeton University and held a concept review of the proposed new football stadium.

It also approved the transfer of an historic house on

Mercer Street badly in need of work to the Bonner Foundation but warned that it was not likely to let residential structures be taken over for non-residential use in the future.

In November, the board invited planning officials from all area municipalities to discuss regional traffic and circulation problems as related to land use. It was the first time such a meeting had taken place.

Notoble Hoppenings

Senior citizens exerted greater influence in Princeton this past year, attending planning and zoning meetings on the senior housing and holding a three-day Future Search conference in late February that focussed on what was needed in Princeton for seniors now and in the future. Jocelyn Helm retired as director of the Senior Resource Center, which she founded and guided for two decades, and Jan Marmor was named as her successor.

A Habitat for Humanity project in Princeton was initiated as a cooperative venture between Princeton Borough, the Princeton University Class of 1977, student volunteers at Habitat for Humanity, Trenton, and that chapter of Habitat for Humanity. A vacant, substandard house on Lytle Street was demolished and a new house is going up in its place which will count toward the Borough's affordable housing program.

Unity Celebration III, sponsored by the Princeton Task Force on Ethics, was a month long affair and included a study circle on race relations, talks and workshops as well as a parade and picnic.

The Princeton Public Library held Log On Day in April to open the Library's two new computer centers, one for adult users and the other for children. Private donations made possible the acquisition of the necessary computers and access to the Internet was provided free by a Princeton-based company.

Tusculum, the historic farm house built by John Witherspoon while he was serving as president of the College of New Jersey, was purchased by a couple who intend to use it as their private residence. Plans for two wings to be added to the back of the house were filed at the Planning Board.

The comet Hyakutake made its appearance in late March, clearly visible as a bit of white fuzz near the Big Dipper in the eastern sky. And there were two lunar eclipses in 1996, one on April 3 and another on September 26.

It was clearly an unusual year. May the year just beginning be just as event-filled, and may it bring peace and fulfillment to all Princeton citizens.

TIGERS TRIUMPHANT: In a year that saw the retirement of longtime coach Pete Carril, the Princeton basketball team became the toast of the country by beating defending national champion UCLA in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. The Tigers are shown here celebrating an overtime win against archrival Pennsylvania, in a game that won them an automatic bid to the Tournament.

Good Year for Tigers

Princeton University's sports teams had another good year in 1996. Who can forget the stunning, 43-41, upset of defending champion UCLA pulled off by Pete Carril's basketball team in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. The week before the Tigers captured their first Ivy championship in four years, and the two events were a fitting climax to Carril's 29-year career here.

In the spring Bill Tierney's lacrosse team marched on capturing its third NCAA championship in five years with an overtime victory over Virginia. The baseball team had a memorable season also.

Seemingly destined for an also-ran slot in 1996, Tom O'Connell's nine rallied from four games back to tie Penn for the Lou Gehrig division title, beat the Quakers in a playoff.

The run didn't end there. Old Nassau next swept Harvard to win the Ivy title, and Rider in an NCAA play-in round.

Men's crew made a big splash also. In early June Curtis Jordan's heavyweights won the International Rowing Association championship for the first time since 1985. A week or so later they won their first National Collegiate Rowing Championship ever in Bantam, Ohio. The Lightweights, coached by Joe Murtaugh, also won there, building on a win in the EARC Sprints the month before.

The women were just as impressive. And most impressive of all was the field hockey team, which completed another undefeated Ivy season, and made a terrific run through the NCAA tournament, all the way to the finals, before losing to top-ranked North Carolina.

The softball team, like field hockey, has dominated its Ivy rivals the past several years, and last spring was no different. Only a loss to Brown, prevented the Tigers from rolling through another undefeated league season. Prior to that coach Cindy Cohen's charges had set a new NCAA record of 37 consecutive victories. And when post-season play began, they resumed their victory march right into the eight-team College World Series, before losing.

The women's lacrosse team also won another Ivy title, and got to the semifinals of the NCAA tournament before losing to eventual champion Maryland, 6-5. All in all, 1996 will be a tough year for Princeton teams to duplicate.

A Lively Year for the Arts

As usual it was a busy year for the arts in Princeton.

It began with Milton's Party, a celebration to honor the life of Milton Lyon, held at the McCarter Theatre where he had served with such distinction as director of Princeton Triangle shows and PJ&B musicals. Later that month, the Emily Mann's play Greensboro, inspired by the 1979 killing of five anti-Ku Klux Klan protestors in Greensboro, N.C., was given its world premiere at McCarter, and eight survivors of the massacre attended the opening with their families.

The Princeton University Art Museum mounted a major exhibition on the World of the Olmec, with some 250 items on display from the earliest known civilization in Mesoamerica. Princeton Pro Musica took note of this and its February concert featured music written for and played on Colombian instruments.

Princeton High School's Spectacle Theatre staged Showboat, one of the biggest musical productions in the school's history.

The composer Milton Babbitt was feted in May at a concert in Richardson Auditorium in honor of his 80th birthday. The program featured his recently composed Piano Quartet, among other works.

Princeton Triangle's 1996 show Pulp Fiction was termed "delightful" by the TOWN TOPICS reviewer, who gave special praise to the choreography and execution of its large, show-stopping numbers.

The Princeton University Orchestra's final concert of the academic year was an ambitious one, featuring the world premiere of a work for soprano and orchestra by a graduate student as well as the Shostakovich 5th Symphony.

After 26 years providing a children's theatre program that emphasized imagination and the creative process, Creative Theatre closed up shop with two performances of Hamlete, Princess of Denmark at the Arts Council. After 32 years in various locations in Princeton, Artworks lost its home in the Suzanne Patterson Center because the space was needed by the Borough.

In June, the Opera Festival of New Jersey's production of Stravinsky's rarely performed The Rake's Progress was praised for its high caliber. The Rake's Progress alternated in repertory with Verdi's La Traviata and Mozart's Cosi fan Tutti.

During the summer, the Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra travelled to Italy for concerts and sightseeing in the Isernia/Pettoranello region, the most recent arts group to visit Italy under the auspices of the Princeton Pettoranello Foundation.

A gala evening with Carol Burnett was one of the highlighis of the fall. Another was a talk by Wolfgang Swallisch, director of the Philadelphia Orchestra, who illustrated on the piano how Richard Strauss used different keys to convey character and mood in his operas and tone poems.

EPIPHANIE WITH CHEZ ALICE
GALETTE DES ROIS

King and Queen of the Kingdom of Sweets

The first Sunday of the New Year, in the Christian world, celebrates the Epiphanie. The celebration goes on until the end of January.

As the story goes, the Epiphanie serves to observe the day that the star announcing the birth of Jesus Christ guided the three kings Melchior, Gaspar and Balthazar to Bethlehem to present the Messiah with their precious gifts of gold, incense and myrrh.

The tradition began when Christians everywhere rejoiced and celebrated the journey of the three kings by sharing the "Galette des Rois" with a bean, gold coin or ceramic figure hidden inside. That object also called "Santon" represents Jesus Christ — or some other holy figure.

While sharing the Galette des Rois, anticipation and excitement builds as everyone waits to see who will be lucky enough to get the prize and be crowned king or queen for the day. That person, in turn, chooses his or her royal partner.

GALETTE DES ROIS

The "Galette des Rois" is made with two layers of puff pastry filled with a rich almond cream. We have hidden a small ceramic figurine inside.

So gather your friends around a table, cut the "Galette des Rois" (be careful with the Santon) and hide the Galette under a table cloth. An innocent hand should pick the slices.

Wine, a well chilled Gewurtztraminer "Vendange Tardive" from Alsace is perfect.

Reorganization Set For Borough, Township

Everyone can sleep late this New Year's Day: Borough Council and Township Committee have switched their annual reorganization meetings from the traditional January 1 to Sunday, January 5. The events will begin at noon in Borough Hall and Township Hall, with everyone invited to a reception afterwards at the Witherspoon Street Firehouse.

Michele Tuck-Ponder is expected to be elected to her third consecutive term as Princeton Township Mayor, with Phyllis Marchand again serving as Deputy Mayor.

Ms. Tuck-Ponder and Steve Frakt will both be sworn in as members of Township Committee. Both Democrats won re-election in November. This will be the second term on Committee for both Ms. Tuck-Ponder and Mr. Frakt.

Over at Borough Hall, Democrats Mildred Trotman and David Goldfarb will be sworn in as members of Council. This will be Ms. Trotman's fifth consecutive term and Mr. Goldfarb's third.

The annual reorganization meetings will also include the swearing-in of other Borough and Township officials, the appointment of citizens to various boards and committees, and mayoral addresses.

For the first time, the meetings will appear on cable television. The Borough session may be seen on Channel 40 and the Township meeting will be carried on Channel 50. Coverage will begin at noon.

Openings, Closings & Moves For Town's Businesses in '96

Four longtime family-owned Princeton businesses closed in 1996 and several new restaurants and retail establishments opened.

Honoré's Barbershop quietly closed its doors in July after eight decades of providing haircuts to generations of Princeton students and residents. Jack Honoré was the founder of the business, which had several different homes in town, most recently at Palmer Square East. The business passed to Art DeCore, who began at Honorés in 1929, and it was his widow Mary, and son-in-law Bob Chaty who decided to close up shop.

Cooper & Schafer, Princeton roofers for nearly 70 years, closed in August when the current owner put the shop at 63 Moran Avenue up for sale. Carl Schafer began the business in 1929 in the garage behind his house on Pelham Street and subsequently asked William Cooper to join him. The business passed out of family ownership in 1986.

Another casualty was South's Garage , which began in 1907 as the Frank E. South Cadillac and Oldsmobile dealership at 2-4 Nassau Street. After Mr. South's death, two long time employees, Frank Perna and Angelo Dalle Pezze, moved the service and repair aspects of the business to 36 Moore Street, where it had been since 1964.

The English Shop closed December 1 after 45 years of selling men's clothing. Eric Mihan started the business in 1951 and was later joined by his sons Herb and Eric. The women's shop which had been a part of the English Shop for 35 years closed in 1995 and was replaced by Talbot's Petites.

After 40 years in Princeton, most of it at 30 Nassau Street, Edith's Lingerie moved to 170 Nassau Street, where Miller Topia antiques store was located. The Miller Topia space had been vacant for most of the year, but Edith's move, and the closing of The English Shop at 31 Nassau Street left two key spaces along upper Nassau Street vacant at year end. Reportedly, a Talbot's children's store is scheduled to open in the English Shop space.

New Restaurants & Coffee Houses

Several new restaurants opened in the central business district in 1996. A ribbon cutting ceremony with Borough Mayor Marvin Reed heralded the opening of Mediterra, a restaurant specializing in foods of several southern European countries, on Hullfish North in late February. Mediterra replaced Canton Grill and is owned by Carlo and Raoul Momo, owners of Teresa's Pizzetta Caffe and Pizza Colore.

Twist Rojo restaurant opened in May at 15 Chambers Street, serving its own interpretation of Mexican and Asian cuisines and featuring a demonstration kitchen as part of the decor. Karen's Corner became Karen's Chinese Restaurant and moved across Witherspoon Street to No. 36. Ichiban, Princeton's first Japanese restaurant opened in the two remaining bays of the former Griggs Corner Amoco at the corner of Witherspoon and Hulfish Streets. Although not new in 1996, George's Roasters and Ribs underwent extensive renovation and expansion this past year, occasioned by a fire that destroyed a structure in the rear used for storage.

The number of coffee houses in town increased when Starbucks opened at 100 Nassau Street, after making extensive renovations to the space formerly occupied by Tucker Anthony brokerage firm. Tucker Anthony moved to 192 Nassau Street the previous year.

Totally Wired, described as a "cyber cafe," offering food, coffee and computer terminals for customers' use, announced it would open at 134 Nassau Street, in the space vacated by Allen's children's store, but had not opened at year end. Another coffee house, Emerald Coffee Company, was announced as one of the occupants of the new building under construction at the corner of Nassau Street and Olden Lane, the site of a former Mobil Gas Station.

Bagel shops also proliferated during 1996. Chesapeake Bagel Bakery, with one location at 179 Nassau Street, opened another in the Princeton Shopping Center where Freschetti's Pasta Factory had been.

Year-End Business

Einstein Brothers Bagels took the place of Varsity Deli at 80 Nassau Street, which closed in the summer, ostensibly for renovation, but opened as the bagel establishment.

Other developments in the food line included the opening of Lucy's Ravioli Kitchen & Market at 830 State Road and Holsome Teas at 20 Nassau Street in space vacated by A Little Bit of What You Fancy, a gift store. Sally Lunn's Tea Room is expected to open in the New Year at 164 Nassau Street, in space formerly occupied by Weidel Realtors.

In terms of retail establishments, the big news on Palmer Square was the relocation of H. Gross & Co. Outfitter from One Palmer Square to 51 Hulfish Street. Palmer Square management renovated the space H. Gross vacated to two levels and brought in Waverly Home, a division of F. Schumacher featuring its Waverly brand of home furnishings.

Two other home furnishing stores opened in 1996. Matteo & Co., selling home furnishings and fine linens, opened at 69 Palmer Square West in space vacated by Doubleday Bookstore. Judy King Interiors and Antiques opened at 44 Spring Street just in time for the holidays.

Donald Broderick stepped down as manager of The Princeton University Store, and James Sykes took over.

1996 saw the advent of several eyeware shops to the Central Business District. Ardee Eyeware opened in June at 20 Nassau Street in place of Salon Phe Nom, and Au Courant opticians took the space at 57 Palmer Square West where Cranbury Station had been located. Cranbury Station, an art gallery and framing store, moved to Palmer Square East in place of Honoré's Barbershop. Toward the end of the year, Sunglass Hut opened in the space at 108 Nassau Street vacated by Keller Travel, which moved next door into space formerly occupied by Frugal Flowers.

A new flower shop, Jardiniere Flowers Extraordinaire, opened in the complex at 195 Nassau Street.

Vacant Spaces Filled

Several vacant spaces along Chambers Street were filled during 1996. The newcomers included Steppin' Birkenstock selling Birkenstock shoes; Joy Cards, a stationary shop; and Princeton Taitoring, custom alterations. Sunshine Design, a jewelry shop formerly on Chambers Street, moved to the lower level of 164 Nassau Street.

The Brass Horn, a gift shop selling primarily brass items, held a liquidation sale in May. Its space at 15 Witherspoon Street was taken by Yeti Gift Shop, selling Himalayan items.

In July, the Summit Bank branch at 16 Nassau Street closed and consolidated its operations with the branch at 90 Nassau Street. The building was the scene of a major fire in November, caused by a malfunction of the boiler. Midlantic Bank vacated its branch at 132 Nassau Street in September.

In November, Eckerd Drug opened in the former Wawanear Davidson's. The building, which once housed a car dealership and a White Tower Restaurant, had been vacant for more than a year.

Nejad Gallery, an oriental carpet store at the corner of Nassau and Moore Streets, announced a series of going-out-of business sales but never did close completely. A new entity under the name ABC Carpet continued to promote carpets at big discounts and ultimately declared bankruptcy.

One of the most ballyhooed openings was that of Amazing Sight and Sound, a home electronics store that opened at 138 Nassau Street in July with a great deal of fanfare and advance publicity nationally as well as locally — and closed abruptly eight days later.

On a more nostalgic note, Rosedale Mills, an old time feed and grain store that added pet and garden supplies to meet the needs of its suburban customers, closed its store on Alexander Street after 46 years in Princeton. The business has continued at its other location on Route 31 in Pennington.

As usual it was a busy year for business in Princeton.

MUSIC & THEATRE

Political Humorist Due at State Theatre

Mark Russell will perform an evening of political comedy and satire Thursday, January 9 at 8 at the State Theatre, New Brunswick.

In its 21st season on PBS, The Mark Russell Comedy Special has consistently been among the top-rated shows on that network. His stand-up comedy is live, fresh and dangerously topical, especially when he delivers his scathing song parodies while playing the piano. Mr. Russell is also a weekly commentator on CNN's Inside Politics Weekend.

On the road most of the year, the comedian's response to the question, "Do you have any writers?" is "Oh yes. I have 535 writers. One hundred in the Senate and 435 in the House of Representatives."

Mr. Russell was born in Buffalo, N.Y. and served in the Marines in the '50s. After his enlistment was up, he found himself in the smoke-filled bars of Washington, DC singing his funny songs. When he got a job in a Capitol Hill bar the first thing he thought was, "I've started at the bottom, but I've managed to work my way down!" His big break came when he was hired to perform a two-week gig at the Shoreham Hotel. It lasted for 20 years.

No public official from the President of the United States to members of the City Council are safe from his hilarious satirical attacks. He's been called the "ultimate taxpayer's friend," making sense out of senseless bureaucracy, and putting political pomposity firmly in its place.

Tickets are on sale for $34 and $19 at the State Theatre box office, 15 Livingston Avenue, New Brunswick. For telephone ticket orders or information call (908) 246-7469, Monday to Saturday, 10 to 6.

JUST CAN'T WAIT? TOWN TOPICS can be purchased at 9 a.m. Wednesday morning at our office at 4 Mercer Street.

"Classical on Tap" New Series at Brewpub

The Princeton Chamber Symphony will introduce "Classical on Tap," a new series in which small ensembles of PCS musicians perform classical favorites on Sunday January 5 and Sunday January 12 at 2 at the Triumph Brewing Company on Nassau Street.

In this informal atmosphere, musicians will play a movement or two, then stop and chat with the audience. The series is an attempt to expose people to classical music outside the confines of the concert hall. It is part of the Chamber Symphony's ongoing mission to make classical music more accessible to the general public and will expose a new, younger audience to the music and musicians of Princeton's only resident symphony.

Managing Director, Brian Frawley commented, "My hope is that this series will eliminate some of the misconceptions people in their 20s, 30s and 40s have about classical music and the organizations that perform it! We hope to get people to realize that we are somewhat hip. Our musicians are regular, interesting, fun people.

"Hopefully, those who come to the Triumph Brewery for a drink or dinner will learn a little about classical music and later attend concerts by the full orchestra. At the very least, they'll come away with a different impression of classical music and the Chamber Symphony."

The concerts are free for Triumph Brewing Company patrons.

Auditions Are Announced For Wasserstein Play

The Theatre guild of New Jersey will hold auditions for The Sisters Rosensweig by Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Wendy Wasserstein. The play will be produced weekends in April and May at the Yardley Community Centre, Yardley. Rehearsals will take place in Ewing Township, starting six weeks before the show opens on April 12.

Auditions are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, January 8 and 9, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the pine room of the Yardley Community Centre, 64 South Main Street, Yardley, Pa. Four women ranging in age from 20 to 50 and four men from 25 to 50 are needed. All eight roles are available.

An appointment is not needed for the audition. Those trying out are asked to bring a resume and a head shot. They will read from a script supplied by the Theatre Guild of New Jersey.

The play will be directed by Philip Rieschick who has been directing and performing in TTG-NJ productions since 1993. TTG-NJ is also accepting resumes for stage managers, light and sound managers, light and set designers and directors. There is remuneration for these positions. The organization is also seeking resumes from African-American directors, actors and accompanists.

Resumes may be sent to The Theatre Guild of New Jersey, 27 Sutton Drive, Hamilton Square 08690.

Two Videos Planned By Global Cinema Cafe

The Global Cinema Cafe will present two videos, The Barbie Liberotion Organizotion News and Outlow, on Sunday, January 5 at 3 at the Arts Council building, 102 Witherspoon Street.

The Global Cinema Cafe is a free monthly series of contemporary videos that focus on peace, justice and human rights issues at home and abroad. Videos are shown in an informal setting with coffee and cookies the first Sunday of every month and are followed by an open discussion.

The January 5 program is on the politics of gender and sexuality. The Borbie Liberotion Orgonizotion News is a clever and funny account of the gender consciousness-raising and bending that resulted when the voiceboxes of Barbie and GI dolls were switched. Approximately 30 minutes in length, this film is a strong critique of the media.

The second film to be featured is Outlow, by Ailsa Lebow. Featuring Leslie Feinberg, author of Stone Butch Blues, Outlaw is a personal account of one woman's struggle for identity. Through her eyes the film explores society's definitions of what it means to be male, female, gay and straight. It also examines the dangerous consequences for those individuals who cross the rigid boundaries imposed by society's definitions of gender and sexuality.

Wendy Berger, chair of both the Central Jersey Branch of the Women's International League of Peace and Freedom and the New Jersey Gay and Lesbian Coalition's legislative committee, will introduce the videos and lead a discussion.

Adult Winter Classes Registering at McCarter

Registration is under way for McCarter Theatre's winter session of Training Wing classes for adults ages 19 and up. Classes begin the second week in January.

The two classes are offered for adults. Audition techniques, taught by Education Director Laura Huntsman and professional director and actor Richard Leighton, will focus on the audition process and cover resumes, headshots, monologues, cold readings and audition attire and the musical audition. Students will be coached individually. This class will meet on Mondays 6:30 to 9:30, January 6 through 27. Tuition is $150.

Playwriting, taught by professional playwright Jeffrey MacCulloch, is open to students of all experience levels. Spoken word, improvisation and writing exercises will be used to help each student begin and develop an original full-length play. This class will meet on Thursday, 6:30 to 9:30, January 9 through February 27. Tuition is $200.

For more information on all McCarter Training Wing classes, call McCarter Outreach 683-9100, extension 6166.

Chocolate Factory Story At Kelsey Theatre

Yardley Players Theatre Company will present Charlie and the Chocolate Factory Friday, January 10, at 7:30 and Saturday and Sunday, January 11 and 12, at 2 and 5 at Kelsey Theatre, on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community Theatre.

Based on the book, Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory by Roald Dahl, the play follows the journey of Charlie Bucket through the chocolate factory. Traveling along the chocolate river, he meets the greedy chocolate lover, Augustus Gloop as he floats by and goes through the machine room where the eternal gum chewer, Violet Beauregarde, blows up more than just bubble gum. In the nut room, he watches the spoiled brat Veruca Salt, as she makes an unexpected exit down the chute, and finally enters the tv room where Mike Teavee becomes absorbed into his favorite pastime.

The show emphasizes the downfall of greed and the rewards of good behavior.

Tickets prices are $9 for adults, $7 for children 12 and under and seniors. Reservations are suggested, but tickets may also be purchased at the door. Call the Kelsey Theatre box office at 584-9444 for reservations.

Comedian Returns to Hyatt For New Year's Eve Shows

Jon Stewart, former host and executive producer of the nationally syndicated talk/variety program, "The Jon Stewart Show," returns to New Jersey for two shows on Tuesday, December 31, at Catching A Rising Star at the Hyatt Regency Princeton.

Mr. Stewart, who grew up in Lawrenceville and was a regular at Catch a Rising Star Princeton for several years is awaiting the release of the feature film Wishful Thinking, in which he appears opposite Drew Barrymore and Jennifer Beals. He has also recently signed a deal with David Letterman's production company, Worldwide Pants, to develop a late-night talk show, which would follow The Late, Late Show with Tom Snyder, scheduled for a September 1997 debut.

The two shows at Catching A Rising Star on New Year's Eve are at 8 and 10:30. The 8 p.m. show includes a 6 p.m. buffet with an open bar, champagne toast and favors for $97.50. The 10:30 p.m. show includes a buffet at 8:30 with open bar, champagne toast and favors for $125. These shows are for age 21 and over only.

For reservations call Catch A Rising Star at 987-8018.

BREAKING THE WAVES
#1 MOVIE OF THE YEAR
Owen Gleiberman, Entertainment Weekly
"Some movies are like fairy tales — they don't just tell stories, they cast spells ... and Lars von Trier's lyrically trans fixing epic of love, madness, martyrdom and faith works that kind of magic. The eerie power of Breaking the Waves derives how the way it catches patients and miracles walk a dazzlingly "secular" surface, murmuring a world in which mysticism is hidden within the everyday. Years from now, I think Breaking the Waves will be remembered as the first great movie to tap the passions of the millennium ... a hunger for utopia on earth, a yearning for transcendence that's a whisper away from drama."

Red Cross Service Award Presented to 55 Plus

55 Plus has been selected by the New Jersey Capital Area chapter of the American Red Cross as a recipient of its Outstanding Service Award for 1995-96. The award, "Presented in Gratitude for Exceptional Community Service," was made by Kevin Sullivan, the chief executive officer of the chapter. 55 Plus is the only non-profit organization to receive this award in 1996.

Over the past two years, 21 members have regularly assisted the Red Cross staff and the donors in the blood-collection process. In total, a member has served at a blood drive more than 400 times to collect many thousands of pints of blood. In addition, three members regularly transport the collected blood to the blood processing center in Philadelphia.

Dr. James E. Carnes, president of the David Sarnoff Research Center, will discuss the changes made in the operation of the laboratories since they became a subsidiary of SRI (Stanford Research Institute) ten years ago at the next meeting of 55 Plus on Thursday, January 9, at 10 at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

SRI performs industry and government sponsored research and development in electronics and biomedical technology. Since the acquisition by SRI Sarnoff has started eight companies to commercialize their technology. Dr. Carnes will describe the results of these efforts and also tell the group of some of the interesting work now in progress at the Labs.

Dr. Carnes, a native of Hagerstown, Marytand, received a Ph.D. in electrical engineering from Princeton and has spent 28 years with Sarnoff and its predecessor, RCA, working in charge coupled devices and, before that, in consumer electronics. He is a director of a number of Sarnoff spin-off companies and a trustee of several educational and community organizations.

Cancer Care, Inc. is offering a free telephone support group for people diagnosed with malignant melanoma. This group will meet over the telephone once a week, during the day, for eight weeks. It will offer members the opportunity to share common concerns, receive support and learn coping strategies. The group will be led by masters degree level social workers skilled and experienced in working with people with cancer.

To register, call 1-800-813-HOPE weekdays.

The Children's Home Society of New Jersey will hold an adoption meeting Tuesday, January 7, at 7 at the CHS offices, 929 Parkside Avenue, Trenton, where prospective adoptive parents can learn about international adoption opportunities. There is a $10 fee to attend. Opportunities exist to adopt children from Bulgaria, Romania, Russia, China and South America.

Call Kathy Westbrook at 695-6274 to reserve a seat.

Tigers Take Tournament Title in Texas; Defeat Host UTEP 76-64 Behind Earl's 23

The Pacific Northwest may have borne the brunt of this weekend's bad weather, but down in El Paso on Saturday night, the UTEP basketball team was snowed under by Princeton sophomore Brian Earl. In the championship game of the Sun Classic Basketball Tournament, Earl buried the Miners in a barrage of three-pointers, netting a game-high 23 points and walking away with the Tournament MVP award.

It was Princeton's second in-season tournament title of the year, and Earl's second MVP award. The Tigers, now 7-3, had advanced to the title game by running away from Texas A&M 46-38 in the opening round.

The Miner's entered legendary coach Don Haskins' 1,000th game with a 6-1 record, having dispatched Northern Iowa 87-78 in an overtime contest the night before.

MVP AGAIN: For the second time this season, sophomore guard Brian Earl was named MVP of an in-season tournament. Earl scored 23 points to lead the Tigers to a 76-64 win over UTEP in the championship round of the Sun Classic Basketball Tournament.

The biggest difference in the game was in shooting percentage. The Tigers, who were able to work a lot of easy layups against an early UTEP man-to-man scheme, shot 54.2% from the floor in the first half (13-for-24) and improved that to 56.5% (13-for-23) in the second half.

"(Haskins) is really a man-to-man coach," said Tiger coach Bill Carmody, "but we beat them on some backdoors early, and they went into about four different zones on us. But they're not used to playing zone, and we just kept getting the open shots."

UTEP struggled for its shots against the Tigers defense, sinking only 38.1% (8-for-21) in the first half. An improvement to 45.2% (12-for-26) in the second half helped the Miners mount a late run, but wasn't sufficient to catch the Tigers.

Earl did most of his damage from beyond the three-point arc. The sophomore guard shot 5-for-7 from three-point range, and 7-for-10 from the floor overall.

Princeton opened up a 32-24 lead at halftime, but a sustained run by the Miners brought the score to 59-57 in the Tigers' favor with five minutes remaining. With a raucous home crowd bellowing for the host squad to take the lead, another sophomore came up big for the Tigers.

Forward Gabe Lewullis silenced the onlookers by sinking a clutch three-pointer. Junior James Mastaglio followed with a trey of his own, and Earl hit another trifecta. Senior center Jesse Rosenfeld scored two on a reverse layup, and suddenly the Tigers' lead looked a whole lot more secure.

Lewullis and Mastaglio were both in double figures for Princeton. Lewullis shot 4-for-9 from three-point range, and ended the contest with 16 points and a team-high six rebounds. Mastaglio, in only 23 minutes of playing time, collected 15 points and three rebounds, shooting 3-for-4 from beyond the arc.

The Princeton full-court press continues to pay dividends. The Tigers had three steals and benefited from eight UTEP turnovers. "We're getting some good stuff off the press," says Carmody, who is responsible for the innovation in the Tiger offense.

Tiger Basketball

Carmody says that he is not surprised to see the Princeton players take so quickly to a form of defense that many haven't played consistently since High School.

"I think everybody likes to run up and down the court, to press on defense and fast break on offense. It doesn't take a lot of persuading to get get them to play that way," he says.

Aggies Fold Up

After playing their way to a 25-22 halftime lead over the Tigers in the first round, the Aggies of Texas A&M dried up and blew away like so much tumbleweed. Princeton outscored A&M 24-13 in the final 20 minutes, and held the Aggies to 22.2% (4-for-18) field goal shooting to take a 46-38 win.

The first half had been a different story. After jumping out to an 18-13 lead, Princeton saw captain Sydney Johnson take the bench with foul trouble. Over the nine minutes he spent on the bench, Johnson saw his team give up the lead and fall behind.

When he came back in the second half, he did so with a vengeance. Led by Johnson's defense, Princeton absolutely stifled the Aggies, holding them without a field goal for a stretch of more than twelve minutes.

Johnson finished the day with 14 points, five rebounds, two assists, and two steals. Lewullis gave a preview of his performance against UTEP, shooting 4-for-9 from three-point range to score a team-high 15 points. The big sophomore also had two steals and three rebounds.

Once again, the full court press was effective. Texas A&M made 19 turnovers, which, combined with four steals, helped keep the Tigers running on offense.

With 10 days to go before the first Ivy contest (January 10 at Brown), Carmody says he is trying not to look too far ahead. "You want to keep winning, basically," he said. "You don't want to look ahead and wind up losing the next two games."

Between now and the Brown game, Carmody will have the team working on man-to-man offense in practice. "We're seeing all these zones now —" he reports, and is worried that, without practice, the Tigers will lose the edge on their man-to-man play.

Princeton is scheduled to play Manhattan on Friday night, away, at 7:30 p.m. On Monday, Princeton will host Rutgers in the Tigers' last game before the start of Ivy League play. The Scarlet Knights will take the floor at Jadwin at 7:30 p.m.

Two Promising Recruits Will Come to Princeton

Princeton basketball coach Bill Carmody confirmed Monday that two talented high school seniors have committed to attend Princeton next fall. Wearing Princeton uniforms in 1997 will be 6'3 Lance Walters, of Waxahachie, Texas, and C.J. Chapman, of Denver, both guards.

"We think they'll be pretty good," Carmody reported.

The addition of two talented newcomers to an already guard-heavy roster suggests that the three-guard offense Princeton is currently running much of the time may have a future beyond the graduation of current captain Sydney Johnson.

Two Wins over Notre Dame send Tiger Hockey Back to ECAC Wars This Weekend in Good Shape

The Princeton hockey team took care of business this past weekend, beating Notre Dame twice to win the inaugural 250th Challenge Series. The Tigers captured Saturday's game, 5-2, and returned on Sunday to claim a 3-2 triumph in overtime. Their record is now 11-3-2.

SCORING LEADER: Scott Bertoli collected three points in the Notre Dame series, and continues to lead the team in scoring.

The business was much more than taking away a nice trophy at the end of Sunday's game. Coach Don Cahoon's troops needed to rebound from a 6-1 pasting by Maine in their previous outing before Christmas. They needed also to demonstrate they were ready to return to the ECAC battles that await them this weekend on a trip to New York State.

As the top team in the league standings, along with Cornell, everyone will be shooting to bring the Orange and Black down to earth. RPI will get first chance when Old Nassau arrives in Troy Friday night for a 7:30 contest. The Engineers are in fourth place in the ECAC with a 4-1-1 record. Last weekend they won their own tournament, beating Brown, 6-3, in the finals.

In all the years of playing the Engineers in Houston Fieldhouse, the Tigers have managed just six victories and two ties in 34 games. But the place feels like home to Cahoon whose teams have never lost there. His five-year record is 2-0-3.

On Saturday night, Princeton will be in the second of the tri-cities, facing Union in Schenectady. Union is in eighth place in the standings with an 2-4-1 mark, but this could be the more difficult of the two games. The Tigers recently dusted off the Flying Dutchmen, 6-1, in the first round of the J.C. Penney Classic, and now have to find a way to beat them again. Moreover, Achilles Rink has been an unfriendly place since Union joined the ECAC in 1991. Cahoon won his first game there, but that's all.

Two more games will be played before the break for exams. Vermont and Dartmouth will be in Baker Rink on Friday and Saturday evenings, January 10 and 11. Twelve league contests remain, and Cahoon's skaters need to continue to do exactly what has brought them this far. They are getting solid goaltending from Erasmo Saltarelli and Nick Rankin, playing behind a defense that is making very few mistakes. They are generating enough offense to score goals, and getting scoring punch from several players.

Finally, and most importantly, the Orange and Black is winning the close ones. It is a perfect 5-0 in one goal games. Last year it was 4-7.

Notre Dame Outclassed

In a couple of more years, two consecutive victories over Notre Dame may be much harder to achieve. The Irish, with 12 freshmen and sophomores in the line-up, are struggling this year with a 5-12-1 mark. But they have a good coach in former Philadelphia Flyer player, Dave Poulin, and should improve as time goes on.

Saturday's contest was a play in three acts, with each one of them different. The first period featured fairly even, good play on both sides with the Tigers getting one goal out of their 12 shots, and the Fighting Irish getting one out of their 10.

The visitors opened the scoring just 1:34 into the game when they scored on a high shot that went in over Saltarelli's shoulder. That lead held up until the Orange and Black got a power play opportunity about seven minutes later. It was Old Nassau's only man advantage situation of the contest, and it took just 12 seconds for Jeff Halpern to tie the game with a slap shot. J.P. O'Connor got an assist.

In the second period, Princeton took command scoring twice. O'Connor's goal 1:16 into the stanza, off a pass by Jean Verdon, made it 2-1, and near the end Halpern banged in his second, assisted by Scott Bertoli and Matt Brush. Leading 3-1, Princeton looked ready to lock up the outcome with more goals in the third.

Instead, it was Notre Dame that came out hitting in the final 20 minutes, knocking around the smaller Tiger skaters. In short order the Irish drew to within one, 3-2, early in the third and kept up the pressure on Saltarelli thereafter, firing 13 shots on net. Fortunately, for Princeton, the junior goalie proved equal to the challenge and did not let another one get by him.

Overtime Needed On Sunday

Sunday's contest was also tightly contested, and this time the visitors forced an overtime before losing. Bertoli, assisted by Halpern and Casson Masters, put Princeton up 1-0 just 4:31 into the first period. Notre Dame matched that less than two minutes later.

The Tigers went back on top, 2-1, before the period ended when Steve Shirreffs scored, assisted by Brush and Joey Pelle. Midway through the second Notre Dame drew even, and this time hung on until the end of regulation without giving up another goal. But in the five-minute overtime, it was all Princeton as the Tigers (who only needed a tie to win the trophy) swarmed around the ND net.

Persistence paid off, and after several close calls, the Tigers were rewarded when the puck went off Bertoli's stick, hit a ND player, and bounced into the net with 19 seconds left in the extra session. A few more lucky bounces like that won't hurt down the stretch.

—Jeb Stuart

Princeton Girls' Hoops Splits in Two Rounds

The Princeton High girls' basketball team beat St. Peter's 47-44 in the first round of the Hightstown Holiday Tournament Friday, before falling to CVC rival Hopewell Valley 46-39 in the second round. On Monday, too late for this issue, Princeton was set to play Carteret for third place.

The Tigers jumped out to an early lead against St. Peter's, using a high-pressure full court press to stymie their opponents' offense through the first half. LaTonya Johnson's pressure on the inbounds pass led to a number of easy Tiger buckets.

Senior Courtney Nolan led a balanced Princeton attack with 11 points. Shawna Valentine and Jen Lupovici had 10 apiece, and Johnson and Kim Kaczmarek each scored eight.

St. Peter's mounted a strong run, outscoring the Tigers 28-15 in the second half, but PHS held on.

HoVal jumped out to a 16-4 lead early in the second quarter, and was up 22-11 at halftime. The difference was 12 points at the start of the fourth quarter, and although the Tiger were able to trim the Bulldogs' lead a bit, they couldn't close the gap and the final was 46-39.

Nolan scored a game-high 17 points, and Johnson wasn't far behind, with 12.

PHS plays McCorristin at home on Friday, at 7 p.m.

BE MY VALENTINE: PHS senior captain Shawna Valentine puts it up against St. Peters. The Tiger center scored 10 points in the 47-44 Princeton High win.

Princeton High Hockey Beats Hamilton 13-3

Princeton High, a team used to having games stopped due to the ten-goal rule, was in an odd position last week. The Hamilton game was stopped with the score 13-3, but Princeton, for a change, was the team in the lead.

The 2-4 Tigers got five goals and two assists from Niclas Solberger, whose brother Mark had two goals and three assists. Tom Shannon's statistics mirrored Mark Solberger's, as he scored twice and had three assists. Jim Garito had three assists, and Jon Stadlin scored his first varsity goal to round out the scoring.

In goal for the Tigers, Elan Daniel had six saves.

Princeton plays Ewing on Friday, at 4:40 p.m., and will face Steinert on Monday, at 3:30. Both games will be played at Mercer County Rink.

PDS Teams Are Ready To Return to Action

With the exception of the basketball team, which played this past Monday night against Archmere Academy of Delaware (too late to be included here), other Panther sports teams will see their first action since before Christmas this week.

The boys hockey team will face Upland Hockey Assn. at 11 this Saturday at home, hoping to improve on its 1-5 record. The Panthers lone win came against Princeton High.

Girls basketball, currently one game below .500 with a 2-3 mark, will play Rutgers Prep at home on Wednesday, January 8. The girls hockey team will have a return match with Pingry on Tuesday, January 7.

Alan Taback's quintet, which has won four of its first five, prior to Monday's contest, will be back in action against McCorristin High School on Thursday, January 2. The Blue and White will then play Nottingham High on Monday, January 6.

Princeton Wrestlers Fifth in Tournament

The PHS wrestling team placed fifth in the Westfield Tournament over the weekend.

Top finishers for the Tigers were Mike Kopley, at 130 pounds; Alex Brown, at 152; and Nick Miles, at 171. All three took second place. Dave Cifuentes came in third in the 140 pound class.

The Tigers open their CVC competition on Saturday, when they host Hightstown. The match is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m.

Princeton High Cagers Split Two in Tournament

"Well, we've already equaled our total number of wins from last year, and it isn't even 1997 yet," said PHS basketball coach Doug Snyder on Monday. His Tigers, currently 2-1, split a pair of games in the William Allen Holiday Tournament, losing 61-49 to Springfield Delco before beating East Stroudsburg in the consolation round.

Snyder, who is starting two freshmen on the Tiger squad, admits that he expects the season to be a "rollercoaster" but says that he is "really pleased with the way the team has played."

Senior captain Shahid Abdul-Karim was named to the all-tournament team, scoring a combined 33 points to pace the Princeton offense. "Shahid has really stepped up," says Snyder. "I told him we were going to count on him to get into double figures every game, and so far he's doing it."

Abdul-Karim scored 14 points against Springfield, in a game that could have gone either way but for a disastrous third quarter. Down 28-26 at halftime, Princeton was outscored 20-7 in the third quarter as Springfield pulled away.

"They just shot the ball real well, and pressed us a little bit and we turned the ball over," said Snyder.

Princeton got 14 points from freshman guard Mark Schroeder, and eight from junior Jay Curtis.

Against East Stroudsburg, the Tigers breezed out to a 26-10 first quarter lead, and put it on cruise control from there on. Abdul-Karim netted 19 points and 6'5 freshman forward Mike Conover contributed 17. Schroeder was also in double figures, scoring 12 points.

Princeton gets back into CVC play on Friday, traveling to McCorristin for a 7 p.m. game. On Tuesday the Tigers will visit Nottingham, for another 7 p.m. start.

Thank You to Special People of Princeton For their Generous Gifts to the Community

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As 1996 comes to a close it is time to say "Thank you" to special people for extraordinary gifts to the whole Princeton Community.

Outstanding is the great generosity of Stanley Smoyer to the people of Princeton in giving a million dollar gift in memory of his dear wife Barbara. Together they were consistent benefactors of many projects in Princeton, and especially those efforts to preserve open space now for the benefit of future generations. Stan gave this memorial gift to help the Township acquire the beautiful Weller farm, a place with rich memories of a working farm in the midst of suburban development, a place where the children were invited to play ice hockey when the pond froze in winter, and generations of ardent hockey players chased the puck into the night.

The beautiful overlook in all seasons across the land sloping down to the Millstone River is reason enough to treasure this special place.

Another consistently generous benefactor of the Princeton Community is the Winant Family, who have made major efforts to preserve their farm as open space in perpetuity, through the New Jersey Conservation Foundation. The addition of this land to that of the Mountain Lakes Preserve and the John Witherspoon Woods will create a true Central Park for Princeton. This proposal is still waiting approval by the Township.

The reality of development in Princeton now is that it takes a tax assessment of $1,180,000+ to support one child in the Princeton Regional Schools, at a tuition cost of $11,000 a student. This does not cover the addition in county tax, or the costs of additional infrastructure and services. When the assessment falls less than that, the entire community must pay the difference. Every new house being built on open land not only destroys the natural landscape but places an additional financial burden on each of us that we must make up with increases on our property taxes. (These figures were developed by former Township committeeman Tom Poole, and substantiated by municipal reference and several studies done by independent agencies.)

From all of us who appreciate the precious beauty of the landscape in its' natural state, and the need for pockets of parks for the benefit of everyone near developed communities, a resounding THANK YOU to Stan and Janine!

Thanks to the Princeton Community For Their Help During the Holiday Season

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The new Welfare Reform bill will affect our office greatly this upcoming year. We have already been experiencing the effects of the changes in some areas most pressing to our clients. Community involvement in the future will be one of the most important tools to serve those in need. We trust the overwhelming support that this office received throughout the holiday season is an indication that a relationship between the community and this office has been built.

We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere gratitude to all of you for making this a true season of giving. Special thanks to Soroptimist International for creating our first ever, Thanksgiving fund. The monies from this fund will allow us to respond promptly to crisis situations.

Our most sincere thanks also, to all the merchants who contributed so generously as well as the Princeton High School Band and the Princeton University Painters. We wish you a happy and healthy holiday season.

Littlebrook School Teachers Thanked For 5½ Years of Excellent Education

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I want to thank the fifth grade teachers at Littlebrook School for their Revolutionary War evening and sleep-over held last Thursday. It was great to see my daughter and her friends so excited about spending an evening and night at school. The activities certainly were well planned and show just how well these teachers know what will make learning real and exciting for our children.

As my daughter enters the second half of her last year at Littlebrook, I wish to give thanks to all of her teachers, from music, gym, art and all of the subjects. My daughter has received an excellent education in her five and a half years at Littlebrook. Her teachers have always been there to support her, and help her succeed.

I wish them all a very happy New Year.

New Street Signs Are a Splendid Idea; Just Make Sure They Correspond to Street!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The big, new, green street signs hung from the horizontal traffic light poles are a splendid idea — as long as the name on the sign corresponds to the name of the street beneath.

The sign over the turn into Bank Street says UNIVERSITY Pl. This egregious error has netted us a steady stream of out-of-town cars, whose puzzled drivers are looking for the Dinky station, or the Wawa, or the U Store.

Will those responsible admit their error? Don't hold your breath.

Mayor Reed Should Reconsider His Decision; Area Would Benefit From an Office on Aging

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following letter was sent to Mayor Reed asking him to reconsider his decision not to reappoint Barbara Carnevale, 1996 Chair of the Commission on Aging, to the Commission:

We are disappointed to learn that Barbara Carnevale has not been reappointed to the Commission on Aging on which she has served with distinction since 1993. Ms. Carnevale has worked diligently during her entire term and especially during this last year. Under her leadership, the Commission has moved forward in its efforts to establish an Office on Aging. We feel it would impede our progress to remove her at this critical juncture and ask you to reconsider.

(Signed) Commissioners Gertrude Dubrovsky, Mary Agnes Procaccino, Mamie Oldham, Joan Leavitt, Elizabeth B. Smith, Elaine Schuman, and Bernice Frank.

Commissioners Claire Jacobus, Bob Hoffman and Harriet Bogdanoff who also serve on the Board of the Senior Resource Center, declined to sign.

Ms. Bogdanoff worked with a Task Force [TF] for an Office on Aging as did Ms. Carnevale, Ms. Smith, Ms. Schuman, Ms. Frank, and this writer. The TF, which also included Roz Denard, Jim Floyd, Eva Redding, Helen Stein, Mark Freda, and Barbara Purnell, grew out of the Future Search Conference held last spring to examine issues affecting Senior Citizens. A general consensus emerged from Future Search to investigate the establishment of an Office on Aging and the TF began its work.

For the past seven or eight months, TF members visited other Senior Centers and their Offices on Aging compared services, examined budgets, and were in the process of preparing a report to be delivered to both the Borough Council and the Township Committee.

The final step preparatory to making a report to the governing bodies was a "Senior Speak Out" (December 7, 1996) to learn from Senior Citizens how they viewed the creation of an Office on Aging. The general consensus of the December 7 meeting, as it was in the previous Future Search Conference, was that Princeton would benefit from an Office on Aging.

At no point did the Committee consider doing away with the Senior Resource Center and the programs it does provide. The Office on Aging, as we view it, would have administrative oversight and coordinate and monitor programs and services that currently are or should be offered by other designated agencies already in place. Agencies such as Recreation, Health, Welfare, Housing, and Civil Rights — all concerned with people, must also share some responsibility for the good and welfare of Seniors. The Director would be an advocate for Seniors and voice their concerns to the governing bodies. Seniors are roughly 20% of our combined populations, and a larger percentage of the tax payers.

Mayor Reed is quoted by the Trenton Times as saying: "I think the Borough council and Township committee are getting more for our investment by working with the resource center." The combined allocation from Borough and Township is $60,000. How can we measure the return on this 'investment'?

In dismissing Barbara Carnevale from the Commission, Mayor Reed acts like the ancient ruler who didn't like the message, so he killed the messenger. We hope he can use the wisdom of his years — for he, too, is a senior citizen — and reappoint Ms. Carnevale.

WEDDING ON THE GREEN: Bride and groom Stacy Cullen and Dustin Conrad stepped from their horse-drawn carriage and walked to the lighted Christmas tree on the Green in front of the Nassau Inn, where their wedding ceremony was held on Sunday morning. About 24 guests attended the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Jack Bates, and a number of passersby stopped to watch. The bridegroom's mother, Pat Conrad of Middletown, said the sun wasn't out but that it didn't make a difference. "It was so pretty." The couple, who live in Milwaukee, Wisc., are on a honeymoon in Grenada. (Brian McCarthy photo)

Local Man Arrested; Attempted Burglary Alleged by Police

Borough police arrested an 18-year-old Witherspoon Street man early Sunday morning, charging that he attempted to burglarize a Lytle Street residence.

According to police, officers were sent to the Lytle Street house at 5:19 a.m., after a resident called to report that someone was trying to gain entry. The resident reported hearing someone try several doors without success.

Officers arriving on the scene discovered Walter Carrillo, of 206 Witherspoon Street, outside the house. Police do not believe that Mr. Carrillo ever entered the home. He was charged with criminal attempted burglary.

Cash amounting to $526.93 was stolen from a Witherspoon Street business sometime between 5:30 p.m. on Thursday and 8:45 a.m. the next morning.

Police said that the cash was removed from a cash register. There was no sign of forced entry to the building.

A purse stolen from the back office of a Nassau Street store, along with its contents, was valued at $525 police said. The purse contained an additional $75 in cash.

Police report that it was stolen between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on December 28.

A third Borough store reported that it was victimized by a man using a forged traveler's check last month. On November 30, a man used a $100 traveler's check to purchase $27 worth of goods, and received $73 in change. It was later discovered that the check was false.

Two other stores have reported similar acts of theft by deception.

The suspect is an Asian male, approximately 25 years old. He is 5'3, between 160 and 175 pounds, and wore a leather jacket.

Program on Sunday At Dorothea's House

Pope Pius XII has been criticized by some who perceive he did little to help Jews during World War II. However, Sister Margherita Marchione, a Filipini nun and author of 34 books, will refute those claims Sunday, January 5, when she elaborates on her newest book, "Yours Is a Precious Witness" at 5 at Dorothea's House.

Published this fall by the Paulist Press, the book presents anecdotal evidence from nuns, priests and survivors of Nazi persecution.

Although the Pope never publicly denounced Hitler, Sister Margherita says that without the Pontiff's approval, Rome's convents and seminaries would not have been opened to Jews. Her order's three Rome convents alone hid 114 Jews, she said.

Sister Margherita is a native of Little Ferry and has been a Filipini Sister since 1941. She is professor emerita of Italian Language and Literature at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison. A Fulbright Scholar, she received her B.A. from Georgian Court College and an M.A. and Ph.D. from Columbia University.

Sister Margherita dedicated ten years to researching and writing about Philip Mazzei, an Italian national and close friend of Thomas Jefferson, who served the American cause during the Revolutionary War.

Dorothea's House is located at 120 John Street, and the program is free of charge. The public is invited to bring along refreshments for the reception afterward.

Volunteer Opportunities At Watershed Ass'n

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association needs volunteers throughout the year in various indoor and outdoor capacities and time commitments.

Volunteer orientations will be held on Monday, January , at 1 and again at 5:30. The orientation takes about 45 minutes and includes a tour of the facilities. Participants will learn about the various opportunities available for all ages and time schedules.

The Watershed Association is a non-profit community-supported environmental organization located on a 585-acre Nature Reserve in Hopewell Township. Operations include environmental education programs for chil-

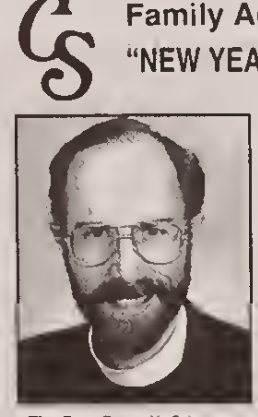
Advice for daily living

Family Advice Column: "NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS"



The Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

QUESTION: What's the use in making New Year's resolutions? I make them on the 1st and break them on the 2nd!

ANSWER: Hey, don't be so optimistic! Many people make them on the 1st and break them on the 1st. But, does that mean you should never make a New Year's resolution? No.

Happiness is a process, not a product. It is not something you buy on sale at Macy's, but something you work on each day of your life. When I was young, I thought that just over the hill were all these "normal" people, and that someday I would grow up and be like them. I assumed that would be when I turned 18, but on my eighteenth birthday, I felt just as insecure as ever. So, I imagined that it must occur at age 21, or, maybe 25. Certainly, no later than 40! Well, I am 49 and still have not gone through that magic door.

As you might guess, there is no magic door, and there are no normal people. We all feel insecure. Oh, some hide under a mask of superiority, and manage to fool a great number of us. But, the truth is that they are the most insecure of all.

What all of this boils down to is that your growth is an ongoing process. While we try not to see this process as a daily drudgery, we admittedly get stuck walking down the path of life. So, we need to rekindle the fire, helping ourselves get back on track. To do this, we use various points in our year to check on how we are doing and to restart our engines. Some of us use Advent or Lent, others use birthdays or anniversaries, and still others use the beginning of a New Year.

Therefore, New Year's resolutions are a good idea. However, if you think that your new start is to wipe your slate clean and begin all over again, then you have missed the point. You build on the foundation of your inner strengths, polishing "the diamond in the rough" that you were into the gem that you can be. You will never be "normal" or "perfect", as these states do not exist. But you can be more and more happy as you become more and more like Christ. So, make your New Year's resolution, and, when you slip and break it, pick yourself up, dust yourself off, and keep on going.

This Wellness column is funded through the generosity of a grant from the J. Seward Johnson, Sr. Charitable Trusts. If you would like Father Stimpson to answer a question of yours on family life, daily living or emotional health, you can write to him at: Trinity Counseling Service, 22 Stockton Street, Princeton, NJ 08540. OBITUARIES

Ethel Wilson Fruland, 79, of Holland, Pa., formerly of Lawrenceville, died December 29 at Twining Village Health Care Center, Holland. Born in New York, she lived in Lawrenceville for more than 45 years before moving to Holland in 1992.

Mrs. Holland was the lieutenant adjutant for the American Red Cross Motors Corps, Central Chapter of Queens, N.Y., from 1939 to 1943 and from 1943 to 1944 served with Club Mobile, a division of the American Red Cross in Great Britain.

Mrs. Fruland retired in 1976 after a very successful career as a sales person and real estate broker in Princeton. She was associated at different times with Peg Wangler, Helen Van Cleve, K.M. Light and N.T. Callaway.

She served on the board of Princeton Nursery School for many years and was a former co-chairperson of the house to house United Way fund drive as well as a former board member of the United Way. She also served as chairperson of women's golf at Springdale Golf Club and was a former co-chair of the Princeton Hospital Fete.

Sister of the late Edwynna Reeves, she is survived by her husband, Donald A. Fruland; a daughter and son-in-law, Wendy Fruland Hopper and Arthur Hopper of Pennington; a sister, Lyla W. Paradies of New Paltz, N.Y.; three granddaughters and several nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, January 4, at 11 at the Presbyterian Church of Lawrenceville, 288 Main Street, Lawrenceville. Contributions in her memory may be made to the Presbyterian Church of Lawrenceville or Twining Village Residence Association, 280 Middle Holland Road, Holland, Pa. 18966.

Mildred La Placa Frankel, 81, died December 28 at Morris Hall, Lawrenceville. Born in Jamesburg, she lived in Brooklyn, N.Y., for 50 years before moving to Morris Hall in 1992.

Mrs. Frankel assisted her late husband, Eli Frankel, in their furrier business for many years.

She is survived by two sisters, Constance Goodwin and Josephine La Placa of New York; four brothers, Salvatore, Anthony, Charles and Leonard La Placa, all of Princeton; and many nieces and nephews.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Tuesday at St. Paul's Church with burial in St. James Cemetery, Jamesburg. Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to St. Paul's Church, 214 Nassau Street, Princeton 08542.

Emily M. Sorenson, 93, a former Princeton resident, died December 27 at Cherrywood Nursing and Living Center in Sterling Heights, Mich. Born in Waterbury, Conn., she lived in Princeton from the time she married Princeton University Professor Alfred E. Sorenson in 1928 until his death in 1992.

Mrs. Sorenson received her elementary and high school education in Bound Brook and she also attended business school. She worked as a legal secretary until the time of her marriage. After raising her family she became a secretary in the Statistics Department at Princeton University.

She was one of the founding members of Messiah Lutheran Church and assisted the first pastor as secretary. She served in a similar capacity at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Lawrenceville, where she was also an active member of the Altar Guild.

In addition to her late husband, who taught at Princeton University for many years and was a former Borough councilman, she was preceded in death by her eldest son, Alfred Jr. and a brother and sister. Surviving are two sons, George W. Sorenson of Fountain Hills, Ariz., and the Rev. Robert H. Sorenson of Sterling Heights, Mich.; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The service will be held Friday, January 3, at 11 at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 2730 Princeton Pike, Lawrenceville, with her son, the Rev. Robert H. Sorenson officiating. Burial will follow in Princeton Cemetery. Calling hours will be Thursday, January 2, from 7 to 9 at Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue, and on Friday, January 3, from 10 until the time of the service at the church.

Elizabeth M. Jablonsky, 78, who retired in November as Princeton Township construction official after serving for 20 years, died December 26 at home. Born in Trenton and formerly of Hamilton she moved to Princeton in 1986.

Mrs. Jablonsky attended the school of Industrial Arts in Trenton where she earned a degree in architecture. She also attended the Washington, D.C. School of Architectural Design. Her first job was with Micklewright & Mountford in Trenton, designer of many area schools.

During her career, she worked for Donald Deskey designing houses for members of the Fred Waring Chorus in Delaware and for Sears Roebuck & Co. She also worked for Design for Living, a custom home builder, and became an officer and stockholder in the company. After 13 years with that firm, she opened her own business in Trenton.

Mrs. Jablonsky joined the Township staff in 1977. She was a member of the Central Jersey Code Officials, Building Officials, Code Administrators International and the Humane Society.

A graveside service was held Tuesday at Princeton Cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of Mather-Hodge Funeral Home. Memorial contributions may be made to the Animal Rescue League of Princeton, 900 Herrontown Road, Princeton 08540.

Richard H. Edling, 91, of West Broad Street, Hopewell, died December 25 at home. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., he was a resident of Hopewell for most of his life.

Mr. Edling was a graduate of Hopewell High School, Class of 1923, and the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, Class of 1926. He was a pharmacist who worked in Cutters Pharmacy in Hopewell from 1923 until 1956 when he became owner, changing the name to Hopewell Pharmacy. He retired 10 years later.

He was a member of the National Rifle Association.

Brother of the late Otto Edling, he is survived by his wife, Gladys Nickerson Edling; a son and daughter-in-law, Richard H.F. and Eleanor Edling of Hopewell; a grandson and his wife, Richard J. and B.J. Edling, and three granddaughters, all of Hopewell; and a sister, Ruth Pope of Quakertown, Pa.

The service was private. Burial was in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell.

Clifford H. Seyfarth Sr., 53, of Kingston, died December 25, at his home. Born in Somerville, he lived in Kingston all his life.

Most of Mr. Seyfarth's working career was as a banker in the Princeton area. He was a member of the Kingston Volunteer Fire Company and a past member of the Kingston First Aid and Rescue Squad.

He is survived by his mother, Viola Seyfarth of Kingston; and two sons, Clifford H. Seyfarth Jr. of Monmouth Junction and William Seyfarth of Princeton.

A graveside service was held Friday at Rocky Hill Cemetery. The Rev. Byron Leasure, pastor of Kingston United Methodist Church, officiated. Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

Helen P. Cherry, 85, of Wood River Village, Bensalem, Pa., died December 29 after a short illness. Born in Princeton, she was a Princeton High School graduate and lived in Princeton most of her life.

Mrs. Cherry was secretary to the director of admissions at Princeton University from 1929 to 1952. She later served as secretary to the business manager of Westminster Choir College for 10 years. She served as a volunteer at the Princeton Hospital Pharmacy and for the Princeton Recollector. She was a member of the Princeton Senior Citizens Club and Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Daughter of the late Annie and George Pierre, wife of the late James F. Cherry Jr., and brother of the late George L. Pierre and Anne Pierre Dennen, as well as a niece and two nephews, she is survived by two nephews, Bruce P. Dennen of Greenwich, Conn., and Willis J. Pierre of Pottstown, Pa.; six great-nieces and nephews and two great-great-nieces.

The service will be held Thursday, January 2, at 10:30 at Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. Burial will follow in Princeton Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Princeton First Aid & Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 529, Princeton 08542.

RALPH WINSLOW BENNETT

Ralph Winslow Bennett, 82, died Friday, December 27, in Tarboro, North Carolina.

Mr. Bennett was a long-time resident of the Princeton area. He is survived by his wife, Jane Clayton Bennett, daughter & son-in-law, Susan Bennett & Robert D. Ross of Princeton; daughter, Katherine Bennett of New Haven, Conn., a son & daughter-in-law, Robert Lathrop & Marsha Bennett of Decatur, Georgia; a sister, Mary Bennett Farnham of Urbana, Illinois; 4 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

A private graveside service will be held Tuesday, December 31, at 11:00 a.m. in the Calvary Episcopal Churchyard with the Rev. Bill Smyth officiating.

Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

though, a dog handler and two bloodhounds were taken through the woods.

"We searched the areas we thought it was most likely that he would be," said Captain Savalli. The bloodhounds reportedly picked up a weak scent, "but it was nothing [the handler] would say was definitive. We're not sure how long the car had been there, so we didn't know how good the track was."

Dive Team Called

On Thursday, the search began in earnest. Ten people and two "air scent" dogs — a German shepherd and a Labrador retriever — from West Jersey Canine Search and Rescue combed the woods for hours with no success. At 1 p.m., says Captain Savalli, he called in a team of divers to search a lake on the Institute property.

"We had already been through the woods two times at that point," he said. "We knew he frequented the area near the lake, and we thought there was a good chance that he might be in there."

Divers entered the water shortly after 2 p.m., and used various methods to search below the surface. Three hours later, having found nothing, officials were convinced that Mr. Bochnakov's body was not in the lake.

(The dive teams were made up of personnel from Hightstown Dive Unit 41 and Rescue Unit 41, Pennington Road Dive 32 and Rescue 32, West Trenton Special Services Unit 33, and Hamilton's Enterprise Special Services Units 14-4 and 14-2. The Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad was also on hand to lend assistance.)

On Friday, six Township Police officers spent a fruitless five hours performing a "grid" search in the woods, concentrating on areas with heavy undergrowth and several "high probability" areas.

That same day, said Captain Savalli, an arrangement was made with several canine search and rescue teams. The teams asked for and received permission to hold a training exercise, involving numerous dogs and searchers, in the Institute Woods on Sunday.

On Saturday, the search was suspended. "You can never be 100% sure," said Capt. Savalli, "but we were pretty certain at that point that he was not in there. And even if he was, his chances of having survived were extremely poor."

It was on Sunday, during the training exercise, that the body was found.

With approximately 44 volunteers and 10 dogs searching the woods, handler Amy Robinson, and her Labrador, Sequoia, discovered Mr. Bochnakov's corpse at 12:33 p.m. Robinson and Sequoia had been involved in the Thursday search as well.

At press time on Monday, funeral arrangements for Mr. Bochnakov had not yet been made.

SPRING IN DECEMBER: High temperatures last week saw post-Christmas shoppers stripping off coats and sweaters. On Palmer Square, West Windsor resident Michael Kenny, 7, enjoyed an ice cream with his father, also named Michael.

Christmas Fund

With this kind of generosity, it is conceivable that the Christmas Fund could reach $50,000 before the books are closed on Friday, January 31.

Anyone who has been intending to to make a contribution to the fund is welcome to do so up until that time. The money is channeled through Family and Children's Services of New Jersey to help individuals and families with special needs that are not being met by existing agencies.

All gifts are welcome, small as well as large, and all will be acknowledged.

Checks may be made payable to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund and sent to P.O. Box 664, Princeton 08542. They may also be brought or mailed to the TOWN TOPICS office at 4 Mercer Street.

IF YOU LIVE outside of Princeton and are regularly buying TOWN TOPICS at a newsstand, a mail subscription can save you time and money. Call 924-2200 today

Science on Saturday Series Begins at PPPL

The 1997 Science on Saturday series begins Saturday, January 11, at the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory (PPPL).

Science on Saturday is a series of eight free lectures geared toward high school students, but open to everyone. The lectures are given by scientists and engineers who are leaders in their fields. Started as a grassroots effort 13 years ago by PPPL scientists, it now attracts more than 300 people each Saturday. This year's series is being organized at PPPL by Norton Bretz and Alex Nagy.

The series begins with a lecture by Princeton University Professor Guust Nolet, who is bringing a small seismograph to demonstrate how movement by the audience can be detected and displayed. Professor Nolet has been involved in the Princeton Earth Physics Project, which develops curriculum materials for high schools and colleges related to the physics of geoscience and is developing small affordable seismographs that could be used by student groups to network information about seismic activity.

In addition to earthquakes, topics offered will range from science in the crime lab and avian research to pollution and diamond making to optoelectronics and mathematics.

Students and community members alike are encouraged to attend any or all of the series. In the past, attendees have ranged in age from 8 to 80.

All lectures are held at Princeton University's Plasma Physics Laboratory at the Forestal Campus off Route 1. The lectures begin at 9:30 and usually last about two hours. Registration is on-site prior to each session. Seating is on a first come, first-served basis.

For more information, call the Science on Saturday Hotline at 243-2121 and leave a message.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

BE LOYAL TO YOUR REALTOR

Real estate transactions are complex transactions in which innumerable snags can occur. Professional Realtors are trained to handle the many facets of buying a home. A good Realtor is an invaluable asset to your venture if you are in the market for a house.

When you find a Realtor with whom you feel confident, it is good to enter into a committed working relationship with that person. Concentrating your search with one Realtor will allow the agent to become totally familiar with your needs, desires, and financial capacities.

Maintaining loyalty to the Realtor of your choice will serve you more than scattering your attention among several agents. When a Realtor feels your commitment, he or she will devote great energy to finding the right home for you.

For dependable individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Please feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

HUNTER'S GREEN

an Historic Treasure in Hopewell Township that has enjoyed Many Happy New Years!!

Nestled on a picturesque setting of ten glorious acres just outside Princeton, this two-hundred-year-old gracious... and spacious... colonial beckons warmly.

Flanked by majestic trees, pond, pool, and tennis court, this welcoming home cherishes at its heart a library dating back to 1740 when it was the entire house! It boasts wide plank floors, beamed ceiling, walk-in fireplace with slate hearth, plaster walls, Dutch door to the gardens, and more charm than any new house can muster!

Over the happy years the varied owners have added modern appointments, including a formal living room with twin fireplaces, and a traditional dining room oozing country ambiance.

Of course, there are any number of bedrooms or suites to accommodate a family and guests.

A one-bedroom country suite over the three-car garage is really cozy with a brick-hearth fireplace in the living room!

The corn crib, smoke house and kennel each complete a vision of New Jersey country life as it was lived more than two centuries ago... and as it can still be cherished and enjoyed!

Please call Jane Kenyon for an appointment for your family. The asking price is a gem, too!
